Harry to Harry, ſhall not Horſe to Horſe
Meete, and ne're part, till one drop downe a coarſe:
Oh, that Glendower were come.

Ver. There is more newes,
I learned in Worceſter, as I rode along,
He can not draw his power this fourteene dayes.

Dow. That's the worſt tydings that I heare of yet.

Wor. I by my fayth that beares a frosty ſound.

Hot. What may the Kings whole battell reach unto?

Ver. To thirty thouſand.

Hot. Forty let it be.
My Father and Glendower being both away,
The powers of us may ſerve ſo great a day.
Come, let us muſter ſpeedily,
Doomes-day is neere, die all, dy merrily.

Dow. Talke not of dying: I am out of feare
Of death or deaths hand, for this one halfe yeare. Exeunt.

Enter Falſtalffe and Bardol.

Fal. Bardol, get thee before to Coventry, fill me a bottle of Sacke, our Souldires ſhall march through; Wee'l to Sutton cop-hill to night.

Bar. Will you give me money, Captaine?

Falſ. Lay out, lay out.

Bar. This bottle makes an Angell.

Falſ. And it doe take it for thy labour, and if it make twenty, take them all, I'le anſwer the coynage; bid my Lieutenant Peto meet me at Townes end.

Bar. I will, Captaine: farewell. Exit.

Falſ. If I be aſham'd of my Souldiers, I am a ſowſt Gurnet; I have miſuſed the Kings preſſe damnably. I have got in exchange of 150. Souldiers, 300. and odde pounds. I preſſe me none but good Houſholders, Yeomens ſonnes, inquire me out contracted Batchelers, ſuch as had been askt twice on the Banes, ſuch a cómodity of warme ſlaves, as had as liefe heare the Divell as a Drumme, ſuch as feare the report of a Caliver, worſe then a ſtrook-foole, or a hurt Wild-duck: I preſt me none but ſuch Toſts & butter, with hearts in their bellies no bigger then Pins heads, and they have brought out their ſervices: and now, my whole whole charge conſiſts of Ancients, Gentlemen of Companies, Slaves as painted Cloth where the Gluttons D ſuch as indeed were never Souldiers vingmen, yonger Sonnes to yonger B and Oſtlers, trade-falne, the Cankers o peace, times more diſhonourable rag cient: and ſuch have I to fill up the bought out their ſervices, that you hundred and fifty tottered Prodigals, keeping, from eating draffe and huſk on the way, and told me I had unlo preſt the dead bodies. No eye hath I'le not march thorow Coventry wit the villains march wide betweene the on, for indeed, I had the moſt of them a Shirt & a halfe in all my company Napkins tackt together, and throw a Heralds coate without ſleeves; and ſtolne from mine Hoſt of S. Albans of Daintry: but that's all one, they' every Hedge.

Enter the Prince, and the Lord

Prin. How now blowne Iacke?

Fal. What Hal? How now mad-w in Warwickſhire? My good L. of Weſt thought your honour had already bi Weſt. Fayth, Sir Iohn, 'tis more the and you too; but my powers are the tell you, lookes for us all; we muſt

Fal. Tut, never feare: tell me, I am Creame.

Prin. I thinke to ſteal Creame in ready made thee butter: but tell me, theſe that come after?

Fal. Mine, Hal, mine.

Prin. I did never ſee ſuch pitifull

Fal. Tut, tut good enough to toſt
